

'Make Your Own Charcoal' Workshop

October 16, 2016

SATURDAY 27th August 2016, Cush Cush Gallery hosted 'Make Your Own Charcoal' workshop as part of 'LagiLagi' program. This workshop shared about how anyone can use any small branches or off-cuts wood, to make your own charcoal for drawing.

This event was also a fund raising event for the 2nd part of the charcoal program: 'Charcoal for Children'.

In the following months, Cush Cush Gallery would be organizing and presenting a series of 3 'Charcoal for Children' workshops, together with working artists. The artists would be collaborating with children of different background, to create artworks using charcoal. The children who participated would get to know charcoal, and their different techniques, and then through explorations together with artists, they will create artworks together. At the end of the 3 series, we will have an exhibition of all the collaborative artworks at Cush Cush Gallery, scheduled to be opened in February 2017 next year. "The "Charcoal for Children" workshops are free for children, and we are seeking support and partnership," says Suriawati Qiu, the founder of Cush Cush gallery. ❖
